French Flying Boat Missing; Fear Mounts for 52 Aboard

HUGE AIRLINER LAST REPORTED OFF WEST AFRICA

No Word Received In 24 Hours From Giant Ship; Search Begun

PARIS, Monday, Aug. 2 (AP)—Fear mounted early today that disaster had overtaken a gigantic Air France flying boat missing for more than 24 hours with 52 passengers and crewmen on a trans-Atlantic flight from Martinique to West Africa.

The plane is a 73-ton, six engine, Latécoere 631, the largest type of commercial plane built in France. It was en route from Port De France, Martinique, to Port Etienne, Mauritania, French West Africa.

It was last heard from 1200 miles off Dakar shortly after Saturday midnight. If all aboard were lost, the crash would be among the worst in civil aviation history. An air crash at Port Deposit, Md., on May 30, 1947, claimed 53 lives, as did two others in Colombia in 1938 and 1947.

The last radio report from the flying giant said all was well and the weather good, but that was more than 24 hours ago.

Air France had no confirmation reports that an SOS had been picked up from the plane by Azores radio stations.

SHIPS AND PLANES including a Skymaster from Paris were combing the South Atlantic for the plane, which left Port de France at 10:30 p. m. (Pottstown time) Saturday.

The United States Coast Guard base in Miami, Fla., said the plane was, presumably down off the coast of Africa. Two French warships, two seaplanes and a long distance aircraft had joined in a search. The Coast Guard said. All vessels in the area, 1200 miles off Dakar, were asked to aid.

Among vessels speeding to the area is the Coast Guard cutter Campbell, due to arrive at 6 p. m. Monday.

The plane is the same type as the giant commercial "Lionel De Marmier" and as the seaplane which crashed the past February on her first trip in the English channel off the Normandy coast. Nineteen persons perished in that crash.

Heavy ice which formed on the plane's 37-foot wings was believed to have forced this craft into the sea. It was the seventh of her class either to crash or be taken out of service.

THE COMPANY SAID the plane was built to withstand a forced landing at sea and speculated that a radio failure explained the subsequent lack of word from the crew. The aircraft was carrying 40 passengers and 12 crew members.

Planes from Dakar took off to join French ships in a search for the large transport.

Late tonight, Air France said (Continued on Page Ten)

Bombers Complete Non-Stop Flight

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—Three Army B29 bombers landed at New York International airport at Idlewild late today, completing a 5000-mile, non-stop flight to Los Angeles and return.

The first of the planes set down at the world's largest airport at 3:38 p. m. (Pottstown time), 21 hours and 39 minutes after leaving the second plane landed four minutes later and the third at 4:54 p. m.

The craft had left at 6 p. m. yesterday at the conclusion of the nation's mightiest peacetime air display held as part of the field's dedication ceremonies.

The arrival of the planes was the only major activity at the giant airport. Intermittent rain and leaden skies forced cancellation of a scheduled round of aerial pagentry.

The bombers, carrying a total of 35 men, were combat-equipped. They carried ballast equivalent to full bomb loads.

Each of the planes left yesterday with 9250 gallons of fuel, returning with about 200 gallons apiece—equal to about two hours flying time.

Berliners Give Praise to U. S. Flyers

Faces of Berliners show intense interest as they listen to speakers pay tribute to the five American airmen who died in the crash of the B-29 bomber which crashed in the English channel off the coast of France.

Berliners Rap Blockade, Pay Tribute to U. S. Flyers

BERLIN, Aug. 1 (AP)—Three thousand persons paid memorial tribute under a blistering sun today to five Americans who have died in the airlift supplying this Soviet-blockaded city.

They heard speakers denounce the blockade as inhuman and praise the airlift fliers as "heroes who help us resist subjugation under a new dictatorship."

But even as the service was being held the Russians, through their official press, threatened western Berliners with extension of the siege into the winter unless the elected city government yields to Communist demands for economic control over the entire city.

"The Russians also indicated that accounts held in banks in the Russian sector of the city by western Berlin businesses and industries, frozen during the recent currency exchange, might never be released except at the pleasure of the Communist-ruled economic commission. The Socialist press called the move a "money blockade."

FAVORED by excellent weather, the U. S. Air Force continued its blockade runs to Berlin. In a 24-hour period, Skymasters and Dakotas made 341 flights into Berlin with a new record load of 2054 tons of food and coal.

Aircraft returning to their Frankfurt and Wiesbaden bases carried miscellaneous cargo and nearly 400 passengers, mostly displaced persons being moved to the American zone to cut down the need of flying in food for them.

The RAF continued at a fast clip as well, making 264 flights. The planes carried about 1100 tons of supplies. The RAF experienced its first reported mishap today at Gatow. A Dakota carrying coal from Fassberg swung off the runway on landing and its undercarriage (Continued on Page Ten)

British Seek U. N. Council Action On Refugee and Prisoner Issues

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Security council will meet in special session tomorrow (2:30 p. m., Pottstown time) to consider urgent Palestine problems raised by Britain.

A British source said his delegation wants council action now on:

1. The 300,000 Arab refugees who fled their homes in Palestine before Israel's forces.
2. A British resolution demanding Israel free five Britons held on general espionage charges.

He said the British would attempt to get the council to express itself on the Arab refugees so that other U. N. bodies more directly concerned can be guided.

The U. N. already has sent Sir Raphael Cilento, director of the social affairs department of the U. N., to the Middle East for a survey of the refugee problem.

ISRAEL'S MISSION to the U. N. countered with notice it will protest to the council the detention by Britain on Cyprus island of 10,000 Jewish refugees.

WESTERN ALLIES SEEK TALK WITH MARSHAL STALIN

Ask Molotov to Set Meeting in Attempt To Settle Differences

LONDON, Aug. 1 (AP)—A well-informed diplomatic source said tonight American, British and French diplomats in Moscow have asked for a meeting with Prime Minister Stalin in an effort to settle East-West differences in Germany and all Europe.

The informant could not say whether Stalin had agreed to such a meeting. He indicated that Stalin, at least, had not yet refused.

The informant said the requests for a meeting with Stalin were made when representatives of the western powers saw Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov last night.

The London Daily Mail, in Monday editions, said Molotov agreed to consider the request for a meeting with Stalin and that the three western envoys will see Molotov again "within the next 24 hours."

"By then it will be known whether Marshal Stalin is to join in the discussions," The Mail said.

WESTERN DIPLOMATS in Moscow are seeking to end the crisis caused by the Soviet blockade of Berlin. A four-power meeting on all German problems is in prospect.

The informant said, "it is not quite clear here" whether U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith, French Envoy Yves Chataigneau or Frank Roberts, the special British Envoy, asked to see Stalin separately or collectively.

Smith and Roberts called on Molotov separately last night to present proposals worked out at diplomatic conferences in London for ending the serious rift between the Russians and the western powers in Germany.

French sources in Moscow indicated Chataigneau also called on Molotov, who returned to the Soviet capital yesterday from a vacation.

The three diplomats had been briefed to conduct exploratory talks to open the way for broader conference on East-West differences not only in Germany but throughout Europe.

A PREREQUISITE to any further talks, however, would be for the Russians to lift their food and fuel blockade of the western zones of Berlin.

Roberts, a former minister to Moscow and now Britain's principal private secretary, is acting in place of British Ambassador Sir Maurice Peterson, who is ill in London.

The foreign office refused to confirm tonight that Roberts has asked to see Stalin, but a spokesman said he has no plans for returning to London.

Disclosure of the effort to see Stalin was accompanied by indications of cautious optimism in diplomatic circles here.

"I CAN'T GIVE any details but it's true," said one diplomatic source with obvious satisfaction when (Continued on Page Ten)

Cool Weather Sets Two-Week Record

Yesterday may have been tougher on outdoor types and St. Swithin, but it was refreshingly easy on others.

For the first time in 15 days, the mercury failed to rise above the 80-degree mark. The high registered for the day was 75.

Clouds, which darkened the area from early Saturday through the weekend, were responsible for the low temperatures and the rain, which fell gently from 4 to 10 a. m. yesterday, piling up 34 inches.

A trace of rain early Saturday morning added to St. Swithin's decline. The saint's average is now 529.

The weatherman last night warned of more of the same with a prediction of cloudy and scattered showers today and a similar dish tomorrow. The bluish tint lingered, from the "fair and warm" prediction he had issued for yesterday.

Touring B29s Reach Base in Philippines

CLARK FIELD, Philippines, Monday, Aug. 2 (AP)—Two around-the-world B29 bombers landed at this central Luzon air base this morning, completing a 13-hour 20-minute nonstop flight from Ceylon.

The big planes landed at 9:20 and 9:30 p. m. Sunday (Pottstown time).

Three planes started the world flight but one crashed the past week at Aden.

Lining Up U. S. Foreign Policy

A bi-partisan foreign policy to prevail during the approaching presidential election campaign has been worked out by Republican and administration leaders. Secretary of State George C. Marshall (left), for the administration, and Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.), for the GOP, high command, are shown discussing the objective of presenting a solid front to Russia. John Foster Dulles, foreign affairs advisor of presidential candidate Thomas E. Dewey, also took part in the discussions.

Now There Are Six . . . Then Only Two

There was joy in Pottstown police headquarters Saturday morning.

Borough hall row office employees were all afwitter, too.

Pottstown police had been chided publicly by the Minute Men of the Chamber of Commerce for not enforcing the bicycle law provisions.

But now, by gumshoe! They'd show 'em.

Pottstown police had picked up SIX violators of the law in one week.

"We've SIX this morning!" was the findings.

No wonder police headquarters was happy. There had been the previous high since police started to enforce the law four weeks ago.

"We've SIX this morning!" echoed through borough hall's corridors.

SIX violators in one week. Gosh, but police headquarters was happy!

BUT POLICE CHIEF James A. Laughhead's confidence turned sour in the stuffy humidity of the bicycle club's locale in Pottstown borough council chambers.

Only TWO offenders appeared for trial.

On 16-year-old lad was "caught" riding double on West High street at 1 o'clock Saturday morning.

"What were you doing out so late?" asked Laughhead.

"I was working!" the boy replied.

Since this wasn't child labor court, no further inquiry was made. The case was turned over to Judge Lee Ellis.

'No Shows' Cut Court Docket

"I order your bicycle impounded for one week!" she passed sentence.

The next case concerned a 14-year-old boy who rode through a stop sign at King and York streets. He almost was hit by a motorist. The "arresting" policeman stopped the youth more to warn him of the dangers of disregarding stop signs than to punish him. But when the policeman found the offender hadn't a license on his bicycle, the cyclist was bound over to court.

Judge Ellis ordered him to write a 200-word essay on bicycle safety as his penalty.

"Joe Bish! Joe Bish!" droned Laughhead, much like a hipflart, as he called the next case. (The name is fictional. Any resemblance to any (Continued on Page Ten)

AKC-Approved Dog Show To Be Held Here on Oct. 16

Four years of quiet effort on the part of Pottstown dog lovers will finally bring to Pottstown the first dog show in the community's history.

The full-scale show, approved by the American Kennel club, will be held Oct. 16 at Manatony park.

Paul F. Kilburn, local pet shop owner who has plumped for the affair for two years, said he received formal AKC approval Saturday.

Proceeds of the show will be split between Highland Memorial park and the Valley Forge Kennel club, Norristown, which is the AKC-approved club sponsoring the event.

Kilburn said he expects between 500 and 600 dogs, 90 percent breeds to be shown. Entries will come from all over the Eastern part of the country.

Judges also will come from scattered points. The show will last from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.

KILBURN EXPLAINED that the show had to have the sanction of the AKC to make prizes and rankings worth anything.

Under the national organization's strict and formal rules, a local club, which is a member of the AKC, must sponsor the show and the AKC must approve the time and place of the show before such sanction is given.

Present history of Pottstown's first show began about two months (Continued on Page Ten)

Bally Driver Injured As Car Plunges Off Road Near Hereford

A 55-year-old Bally man was slightly injured and his seven-year-old nephew went unscathed last night when the car the man was driving went off the road on Route 29, just southeast of Hereford.

Louis Goodavage, the driver, said he was headed for home with his brother's son, Frank, also of Bally, when the car hit a bump on the two-lane macadam road and "the steering wheel got away from me."

His 1930 sedan plunged down a slight embankment and dove 25 feet into the roadside bushes before stopping.

Five minutes after the accident happened at midnight, Forrest Reichard, Chester Springs Rd. 1, stopped and picked up the injured man, who was lying beside the car with his head propped against the door.

Reichard took him to Pottstown hospital, where he was admitted for treatment of bruise burns of the face and arms and possible fractures of his jaw and ribs.

Bears Snub Horsemeat, Are Content to Eat Bread

BOISE, Aug. 1 (AP)—The price of meat can keep right on going up so far as two black bears at the Boise zoo are concerned. They prefer bread.

Lochinvar and Lovelace, the two bears, have been on a bread and water diet for months because zookeeper Fred Knosp was unable to afford meat at its present price.

Hearing of the situation, Mrs. Beatrice Burdick provided five pounds of fresh horsemeat to give the bears a special treat.

But Lochinvar and Lovelace turned up their noses when the meat was placed in their cage and eagerly gobbled the bread offered by Knosp.

25,000 Honor General Spaatz At U. S. Air Spectacle in Reading

READING, Aug. 1 (AP)—While 200 battle planes, taken of America's growing air might, zoomed and thundered overhead and a throng of 25,000 men, women and children craned their necks in awe at the crowded skies, Berks county today honored Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, its most distinguished soldier, with a spectacular air show at the Reading Municipal airport.

Jets, Thunderbolts, Mustangs, and Superfortresses roared their challenge to America's enemies as General Spaatz, in a brief, informal talk, warned that the United States must build the biggest air force in the world if it is to maintain the peace of the world.

"An ocean of air has replaced the oceans of water as our fleet first line of defense," General Spaatz said. "It is consequently of the highest importance that the United States dominate the air as it formerly dominated the sea. Our air force must be made the largest in the world."

General Spaatz, born at nearby Boyertown, directed most of his remarks to Pennsylvania German home folk.

Hilldale Man Nabbed By Police After Two Penknife Stabbings

Henry M. Bradley, 26, Road B, Apartment 33-D, Hilldale, will be charged with assault and battery by knife at a hearing today, as the result of a stabbing spree the past weekend.

The hearing will be conducted by Justice of the Peace Raymond C. Kelley, of the Second ward, in borough hall at 7 p. m.

Bradley is a brother of Willie Bradley, 35, also of Hilldale, who was convicted in Montgomery county court the past June 7 of murdering Harry Beasley, 25, of 122 Beach street, in a brawl at the Needle Eye Social club, 720 Isabella street, early on the morning of April 4.

Willie Bradley was sentenced to life imprisonment on a second degree murder charge.

THE YOUNGER BRADLEY was accused of cutting two men with a penknife the past Saturday afternoon.

The first was Isaiah Germany, 19, Road 3, Apartment 32-A, Hilldale, who was treated at Memorial hospital for a knife wound of the left lower thigh. The gash was closed with eight sutures.

According to Pottstown police, Bradley then came into Pottstown, entering the rear yard of Samuel Cooper, 48, of 623 Water street, whom he struck below the right eye and then cut with a penknife along the right eyebrow.

Cooper said he was standing in his yard inspecting the tires on his bicycle when Bradley entered, grabbed his collar, hit him in the eye and then stabbed him.

The middle-aged man treated the injuries himself, then went to Kelley to swear out a warrant for Bradley's arrest.

Late last night Germany had not sworn out a warrant.

Motor Patrolman Robert Houser and Patrolman Harry G. Chrusch went after Bradley early Saturday night shortly after the stabbings.

The man had disappeared, but was arrested later Saturday night in the Hotel James, 643 Lincoln avenue. He was locked in a borough hall cell, unable to raise $500 bail.

Bradley, a slender man of medium height, at first denied both stabbings, but later admitted them to the police.

CASES BROUGHT before Kelley the past weekend, an unusually busy one for local police and justices of the peace, included that of Mrs. Fariene Wells, 30, Road A, Apartment 65, Hilldale, who was fined $5 and costs on charges of disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace.

Mrs. Wells was accused by a neighbor, Joseph G. Walent, Road B, Apartment 25-A, Hilldale, who complained of the noise in the woman's home.

On Friday afternoon, the Hilldale woman left her home, where she has three children, aged six years, four years and 20 months, and returned Friday night, when she allegedly had a row with her husband.

Kelley warned her that repeated charges of this kind meant a prison sentence and State custody of her children.

TWO WATER STREET men were fined by Kelley after they allegedly began a fight with Paul Bobinski, of South Pottstown, Saturday night.

George Adamski, 26, of 431 Water street, was fined $5 and costs, and John Chaback, 24, of 609 Water street, paid $10 and costs. Adamski also paid $10 to repair damage done to the radio aerial on an automobile belonging to George Lappas, 309 King street, during the scrap.

Bobinski told police that he was looking out of the window of a South Pottstown street when he saw Chaback and Adamski. He accused him of staring at him.

Later, when the South Pottstown man left the restaurant, Chaback and Adamski followed him as far as High and Washington streets, where he said they began to pummel him.

During the hearing, Bobinski withdrew the assault and battery charges. Kelley said, on condition that the three men would cease annoying him.

The fines were levied on a charge of drunkenness.

Woman Thrilled As Society Fetes Her 100 Years

Mrs. Lena Reifsnnyder, 7 West Fifth street, Pottstown's sole centenarian, was honored with flowers, candy and a plaque by the Medical society of Pennsylvania at her home yesterday afternoon.

"She really was thrilled," declared Dr. Edwin F. Tait, of Norristown, chairman of the public relations committee of the Montgomery county Medical society, who presented the plaque.

Pottstown physicians Dr. Ralph H. Merkel and Dr. Alice E. Sheppard also were at the brief ceremony.

Dr. Merkel is Mrs. Reifsnnyder's physician, while Dr. Sheppard is secretary of the county medical society.

Mrs. Reifsnnyder, who will be 101 on Nov. 4, was one of more than 70 centenarians in the State presented with plaques by the State medical society, which will observe its own 100th anniversary in October.

Test of Strength on Civil Rights Looms Between Congress, South

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—A test of strength this week should determine whether the anti-poll tax bill or any other civil rights legislation can clear the Senate this session.

On one side are the leaders of the Republican majority. On the other are 21 determined and talkative southern opponents of the House-approved poll tax measure.

With an "educational campaign" that bore the earmarks of a developing filibuster, the southerners staved off the past week the Republicans' effort to call the bill up for Senate action.

The GOP leaders face a tough choice in trying to bring it up for a vote.

They could keep the Senate in continuous day and night session—of wearing-out the opposition.

Or, they might try to cut off debate by invoking the cloture rule. However, it takes two-thirds majority to put the debate-limiting rule into effect, and parliamentarians have held that it applies only to bills and resolutions which are before the Senate, and not to motions.

THE ACTUAL BUSINESS before the Senate since the past Thursday has been a motion by Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the acting Republican floor leader, to call up the anti-poll tax bill.

Both Wherry and Senator Taft, Republican policy chief, told a reporter they favor trying for cloture, but they are not disclosing their plans in advance.

"We may file a petition Monday or Tuesday," Wherry said. "Once a petition is filed there is no point to extra night sessions."

Sixteen Senators must file a formal petition to invoke a vote on applying the cloture rule. After it is filed, the vote on applying the rule is delayed until the second day.

ANY EFFORT to break the precedent and apply the rule to a motion undoubtedly would be challenged by the Southerners. A ruling by the chair to that effect would be appealed. And the appeal might lead to another circle of debate for days on end.

Taft already has announced that the Republicans want to adjourn the special session next Saturday, Aug. 7, or by Aug. 14 at the latest. He also said he wanted action on the poll tax by Wednesday. That would entail filing a cloture petition tomorrow.

Meanwhile President Truman's scorecard for the first week of the special session was filled with blank spaces.

SOUTH'S DEMOS PLAN TO SEIZE PARTY CONTROL

Claim They Will Have Most in Congress and Will 'Purge' Northerners

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Southern Democrats are considering a little reorganization of their own in the House when the new Congress convenes next January.

The victims of the projected party "purge" may be Democrats from north of the Mason and Dixon line—the so-called Truman and New Deal wing of the party.

Up in arms over the Truman Democrats' advocacy of civil rights legislation which led some Southerners to bolt the Democratic National convention, the Dixiecrats believe next January will afford an excellent opportunity to reorganize for party control.

They are confident they will be in the majority among House Democrats at that time. Regardless of what happens in the national elections, Southern Democrats figure they are certain to be re-elected in November.

IT COULD BE a different story for northern Democrats when the votes are counted.

"There will be some changes made in January," a leading Southerner told a reporter. "It's certain that there will be more Southern than Northern Democrats in the House. Then is when we will move in and take over the party, for if the Democrats lose the White House, party control will be lodged in Congress, and that means in the Dixiecrats."

Some Southerners are urging that in such a case, Northern Democrats who have been clamoring for civil rights legislation should be deprived of choice committee assignments.

"It would only be fair," one of them said. "There was some talk around here not too long ago that the Northern Democrats would punish us Southerners next year. The shoe is on the other foot now and we will be on top to do any punishing that is in order."

New Hungarian Head Expected to Rename Premier and Cabinet

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Aug. 1 (AP)—Parliamentary circles predicted today that Hungary's new president will reappoint Premier Lajos Dinnyes and his cabinet.

Deputy Premier Arpad Szakasits was nominated for the presidency yesterday by the unified (Communist-ruled) Labor party to succeed Zoltan Tildy. Tildy resigned Friday a few hours after the interior ministry announced that his son-in-law, Dr. Viktor Csoranyi, had been arrested on charges of spying and treason. Szakasits' unanimous election by parliament, probably tomorrow, is considered a foregone conclusion.

His choice is considered a reward for bringing his Socialist followers into the Labor party.

Parliamentary sources said no changes in the government are expected, and that the general policy of the present regime will continue. Resignation of the cabinet would be a formality.

Exactly how much have you saved in the last 12 months?

If you can write a good big figure in the space above, don't bother to read the rest of this.

But if the figure you'd have to put down is embarrassingly small, then you'd be smart to adopt a method of saving that many Americans have found to be absolutely sure-fire.

This method is the Bond-A-Month Plan for U. S. Security Bonds.

Ask about it today at your bank.

Once you sign up for this plan, your bank automatically buys a bond for you each month. So your next egg mounts up automatically.

Don't forget that U. S. Security Bonds are the safest in the world. And in just 10 years, they'll pay you $4 back for every $3 you put in!

If you sign up today for the Bond-A-Month Plan, 12 months from now you'll be able to write a nice, healthy sum in that space up above!

OFFICIAL RAPS CENSORSHIP IN U. S. SCHOOLS

John Studebaker Says Education Barred From Exposing Red Dangers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Censorship has barred the U. S. office of education from "exposing the tactics and dangers of Communism" in the schools, John W. Studebaker said today.

The former commissioner of education said censorship on speeches and statements from his office was imposed by Oscar Ewing, Federal security administrator. He complained that an unnamed Ewing aide had rejected a speech urging teachers to expose Communism.

Studebaker, who retired, July 15, wrote Ewing protesting against moves he said will centralize authority over education in the administrator, whom he described as "a partisan politician."

In a 3500-word letter, copies of which were sent to Senate and House appropriations committee members, Studebaker said Ewing ordered that the administrator's staff approve in advance every statement or speech written by the office of education for public use. The office is one of the agencies under the FSA.

Studebaker said this resulted in a ruling by an unnamed staff member that the task of explaining Communist tactics to high school and college students "be left to the State department and the FBI" instead of to the education division.

80-Day Dayton Strike Settled by Governor

DAYTON, O., Aug. 1 (AP)—Governor Thomas J. Herbert of Ohio forged an agreement today ending the strike-torn 80-day-old Univis Lens company strike.

The company and union agreed that within the next two or three days all workers could return without discrimination except for 11 strikers the company accused of "flagrant violations" of the law.

Their cases are to be arbitrated through the American arbitration association and, meanwhile, the company will pay them at their regular rates plus an 11-cent increase granted to all workers for more than 30-days pending a decision.

The agreement came in an unprecedented four-hour meeting between Herbert and heads of the striking United Electrical Workers (C.I.O.) company officials and officers of a newly-organized Univis employees' independent union.

Herbert won a pledge from the UE of no further mass demonstrations at the plant.

Simultaneously, the three union representatives at the meeting were served with subpoenas to appear before a special hearing of a subcommittee of a House labor committee, to be started tomorrow before Representative Clare Hoffman (R-Mich.).

The subpoenas were served by F. Albert Reiman, a committee investigator, upon Oakie Warnstaff, shop steward at Local 168 of the UE; Arthur L. Garfield of New York, an international officer of the UE; and K. M. Kirkendall, the local's business agent.

Technically, the agreement is subject to ratification by the union membership and company directors.

Bellhop in Prison On Assault Charge, To Seek Release

LAKE GEORGE, N.Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—Attorneys for John G. Finn, former bellhop serving a two and one-half to five-year term for second degree assault, will apply in court this week for his release on bail.

The way was cleared yesterday for the release of the 23-year-old Stanford, Conn. man on bail pending an appeal when State Supreme Court Justice William L. Best at Gloversville granted a certificate of reasonable doubt on Finn's conviction.

Finn was convicted recently on the assault charge which grew out of a quarrel with Miss Reva Reznick the past July 31, the night before the New York City nurse was found drowned in Lake George. He was sentenced to Clinton prison at Dannemora.

Daniel H. Prior of Albany, one of Finn's attorneys, said that under Best's order, Finn will be brought from the prison to Lake George early this week and bail would be set.

The appeal will be argued before the appellate division of State Supreme court this fall.

Blast Rocks Cairo, Several Are Hurt

CAIRO, Aug. 1 (AP)—Several persons were injured this afternoon when explosions rocked two department stores in downtown Cairo.

A policeman who was supposed to have guarded the exact spot where one blast occurred was arrested and ordered imprisoned because he had left his post before the explosion.

One blast occurred outside the Gattegno department store. A second occurred in Benzion's department store on Mustapha Kamel circle.

Mediator Asks Arab Refugees Be Permitted in Palestine

AMMAN, Trans-Jordan, Aug. 1 (AP)—Count Folke Bernadotte said tonight he had recommended to the United Nations Security Council that Arab refugees be permitted freely to return to their homes in Jewish-held areas of Palestine during the present truce regardless of Jewish objections.

The U. N. mediator told a news conference here that he also had notified the Security Council that both Arabs and Jews have accepted in principle the demilitarization of Jerusalem.

"Shertok (Israeli foreign minister Moshe Shertok) told me the Jews refuse to allow Arab displaced persons to come back during the truce," Bernadotte said, "but I have told the Security Council that from a humanitarian point of view, and despite the enormous difficulties, there should be no conditions on the return of these poor people to their homes."

DESCRIBING THE problems of Arab refugees and Jerusalem as "those nearest my heart," he said his current tour of Arab and Jewish capitals would chiefly be devoted to attempts at solution of the two.

The mediator's staff estimates there are more than 300,000 homeless Arabs who fled the Holy Land during the fighting then.

Bernadotte said: "We will not waste one hour in starting detailed plans for their relief. The number of Jewish refugees, he explained, is not large.

If the Security Council does not compel the Jews to accept the Arab repatriation, he said, international relief organizations are expected to extend aid to countries where the Arab refugees now are sheltered.

"Jerusalem's demilitarization cannot be effected without an international police force, and to build up such a force might take as long as two months," Bernadotte said.

The demilitarization has nothing to do with the city's future status, he added, disclosing that the Jews had complained that he previously had proposed placing the Holy City under Arab rule.

Speaking in the chamber of deputies Friday, Longo said that the Communists would not balk at revolution if the time were ripe and "if we thought there were no other ways to insure freedom to the Italian people."

De Gasperi called that speech "serious" and said an attempted uprising would meet "all the state's forces and our breaths."

Newspapers of the Right and Center have speculated for days that Togliatti's enforced inactivity may see changes in Communist party policies.

Minister of Music At Trinity Church To Leave Sept. 1

Vernon D. Johnson, minister of music at Trinity Reformed church, has resigned his position to become organist and choir director of the Schwarzwald Reformed church near St. Lawrence, Berks county.

Announcement of Mr. Johnson's decision to leave the local congregation was made by the Rev. John B. Frantz, pastor of Trinity church, at the worship service yesterday morning. The resignation becomes effective Sept. 1.

Johnson has served in his present position since Sept. 1, 1947, and has been in charge of the Junior, Chancel and Senior choirs.

No successor has been named. But the matter is under consideration by members of the music committee of the consistory which includes Lloyd Kilik, Jr., chairman; Richard C. Haury, J. Russell Geiger, Jr. and Oliver I. Christman.

ALSO AT YESTERDAY morning's service, a set of red paraments for the altar, lectern, pulpit and pastor's stole, was dedicated. The set is the gift of two anonymous members of Trinity church and was presented to help commemorate the 100th anniversary of the English Reformation of the present Trinity Reformed church.

An English Reformed church was organized on Aug. 12, 1848 in "The Old Brick Church" at Hanover and Chestnut streets. When it was organized 100 years ago this month, it was known as "Trinity Evangelical Reformed church." Both the German and English Reformed congregations worshiped in the same building until they were consolidated into one congregation in 1887 and moved to the present location at Hanover and King streets.

German and English congregations of the Lutheran faith also worshipped in the same building at the same time.

Special services, activities and projects during the coming year will complete the observance of the anniversary.

Concluding the fifth year of his pastorate at Trinity, the Rev. Frantz carried out a tradition, established four years ago, when he sang his sermon to a congregation of nearly 400 worshippers. He developed the theme, "The Temple in the Heart," and, instead of using illustrations in speech, sang the vocal selections to illustrate his theme. Mrs. Minnie B. Lehr, church organist, accompanied on the organ.

Steel Firms Seek Freight Rate Cut

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 1 (P)—Two U. S. Steel corporation subsidiaries have asked eastern railroads to reduce freight rates approximately 40 percent on iron and steel products moving from the Pittsburgh district to the New York City and Detroit areas.

Benjamin F. Fairless, U. S. Steel president, said today in a statement the proposal was made by the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation and the American Bridge company in letters sent to the heads of the eastern roads.

Fairless declared that "in anticipation of an increasing tendency by steel consumers to divert shipments which formerly moved by rail to other forms of transportation, the railroads in their own interest should favor substantial reductions in their freight rates."

He said the tendency by steel consumers to find other means of transportation had been intensified by the recent change in pricing methods of U. S. steel from a basing point to a mill basis. Under the old basing point system, the steel companies absorbed the freight costs. The new mill price puts the freight tab on the customer.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (P)—Ginger, a Welsh terrier owned by illustrator Russell Patterson, has changed three stories from its master's apartment today—but may live to bark the story.

The dog fell from a living room window in Patterson's Park avenue apartment, landing on a terrace three floors below.

Taken to an animal hospital, Ginger was given penicillin, narcotics and a heart stimulant—and a chance for recovery.

Author of Hymn Preaches Here

The Rev. Dr. John McNeill, of Glasgow, Scotland, composer of the hymn "Cleanse Me," which carries the same melody as the popular song, "Now Is the Hour," preached at a meeting of the Pottstown Youth center in the YMCA Saturday night.

Dr. McNeill spoke on the theme, "It is Better to Be Carried to Jesus Than to Run to the Devil," before an audience of 250.

In the March 8, 1946, issue of The Mercury, the origin of the similar songs were explained.

The Rev. McNeill wrote down the melody when he was traveling among the Maoris, and it became the hymn, "Cleanse Me."

The song originally had been written by a New Zealander, Clement Scott.

Later, it was popularized as "Now Is the Hour" by the British entertainer, Gracie Fields.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 1 (P)—Bus service to West Shore suburbs, suspended for two weeks by a strike, will be restored tomorrow morning.

The Valley Transportation company and the AFL-Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America, settled the strike Saturday.

The agreement calls for an 18-month contract with a wage increase of 7½ cents an hour for six months and additional 2½ cents an hour for 12 months for 100 bus drivers and mechanics.

The company promptly announced it would seek an increase in fares from the public utility commission to pay for the wage increase.

Siamese Policeman

Police killed a Communist insurgent in the Malayan state of Johore today. The slain man's mother also was killed by a stray bullet.

Losses from livestock that reached markets dead, crippled, or bruised in 1947 were estimated at $25 million.

MONDAY, AUGUST 2, 1948

Such is the world. Understand it, despite it, love it; cheerfully hold on thy way through it, with thy eye on highest lodestars!—Carlyle.

"Thrilling" Traffic

THE signs calling attention to the speed limit for automobiles say "25 miles per hour," but for all the attention paid to them the signs erected on High street and other through thoroughfares, are just ornaments and obstacles on the sidewalks.

Cars that cut down their speed to 25 miles an hour on the heavily trafficked streets are in the minimum.

Most of the cars travel at speedway speed and passing and pulling in and out of line are "thrills" to watch.

Pedestrians on the streets spend considerable time just watching the speedsters, expecting serious mishaps, but hoping always for the opposite.

With just a little effort all that speeding on the "in" and "out" through highways could be halted.

A few fines would stop the racing thrills. The streets are too heavily trafficked for more than 25-mile-an-hour speeds.

New Sand for the Hour Glass

A HOT August morning, three years ago Friday, we acquired ourselves far and away the most memorable date in man's history.

It was August 6, 1945, when a single B-29 bomber dropped a single bomb. Its target, Hiroshima, its weapon, the atom bomb.

Maybe the day to remember should be July 16, 1945 when the first A-bomb blasted New Mexico's white sand desert. Perhaps it should be much further removed - to the 5th Century B. C., when old Democritus first proposed the doctrine of an atomic theory.

Whatever the date should be, the day of Hiroshima's destruction will be the remembered one, for on that date, the atom became man's most terrifying weapon.

Like all weapons of the past, the A-bomb will have its counter-weapon.

For the plane, there was the spotlight, radar, anti-aircraft and such. For the rifle-armor, for tanks - mines and bazookas, for gas - the gas mask. So it always goes.

Man had his first, anti-A-bomb weapon, before he got the bomb. It is called the Geiger counter.

The import of this little instrument has momentarily been lost in the roar of the mighty atom bomb itself, but it has long since been perfected. First designed in 1908 by a German physicist named Hans Geiger, it is now man's tell-tale for the big A's deadly radioactivity. Its simplicity and usefulness make the Geiger counter a defense of tremendous importance to future armies.

It was the tick-tick of a Geiger counter that told scientists the final horrible implications of Bikini's tests. The atom would be "almost safe" for human habitation a mere year after the tests!

Is Hans Geiger's little device the new hour glass which will tick off the hours of man's day?

Old Dog: New Tricks!

YOU can't teach an old dog new tricks, it is said. That's how it is known that an old dog is old. And an old man, too.

After the fifth decade has passed, every man and woman ought to keep in mind a few searching questions, as these bear on the aging problem. Otherwise it is easy to become a problem one's self, to one's friends.

For instance, is your interest in things increasing or decreasing with the years? Is your conversation becoming more and more a monolog? Do you complain that other people "do all the talking" or keep repeating old, old stories as though being told for the first time?

Do you tend to show less interest in other people? That is a sign to be taken seriously, because it results in others taking less interest in you, naturally. Loneliness comes by that route.

Many oldsters feel "neglected" because their own self-interests have become too numerous for others to pay attention to, and still have time for anything else.

Again, do you keep your mind open to new truths, and your habits flexible to new ways of living? Or do you fear innovation and change?

In short, has your mind become fixed, your habits frozen, your reactions stereotyped?

The sum of the matter is this: Do we keep on growing in mind and spirit, whatever our physical condition may be? Can we say with William James in his old age: "I believe more than ever in the immortality of the soul, because the longer I live, the more I feel fit to live forever."

Dear Sir 'n' Brother:

Wal, I see by The Mercury where the civil rights issue is causing a lot of hullabaloo in Congress. As in most political campaigns, this one isn't very civil or very right.

It's plain the Democrats are out of step with each other. Not only the left and right, but the North and South!

And say: Republicans, who labeled the President's call for a special Congress "cheap" are all wrong. The convening of Congress never turns out that way.

Hopin' you air the same.

Convicted Krupp May Appeal Case to U. S. Supreme Court

NUERNBERG, Germany, Aug. 1 (P)—The Krupp war crimes trial has touched off a battle for property worth millions of dollars, it became apparent today. Perhaps only the U. S. Supreme court can settle the issue.

In convicting Alfred Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach yesterday of slave labor malpractices and plunder of foreign industry, an American court also ordered confiscation of his property.

What is Krupp's property? That is the key question. It is so confused that the presiding judge of the court was against permitting the judgment to become enmeshed in such a maze. So he, Judge H. C. Anderson, of Jackson, Tenn., dissented from this part of the sentence. He went along with the 12-year term imposed on Krupp, but said he believed the other prisoners for ten of the Krupp directorate were too stiff.

Illinois Farmwife Believed Murdered

OREGON, Ill., Aug. 1 (P)—A 36-year-old farmwife was found shot to death today, a gun lying over her chest and a suicide note in her pocket, but authorities believe she was slain.

Mrs. Alvina Aschenbrenner, mother of two children, was found behind a shed at her home near here, a .22 caliber target pistol on her chest. She had been shot between the eyes.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Willard Burright said the bullet hole in her head was "made by a bullet much larger than a .22, possibly a .38." Burright said they found the note in a cigar case in her pocket. It complained of family troubles and willed all household effects to her son.

60 Lepers Escape In Manila; Others Balk at Transfer

MANILA, Monday, Aug. 2 (P)—The daily bulletin said this morning 60 of 228 lepers in Manila's San Lazaro hospital had escaped during the night and the remainder were on a sitdown strike. The patients were protesting a secretary of health order transferring them to a central Luzon leprosarium nine miles north-east of Manila.

Escapes reportedly found refuge with families or friends, rather than risk exile to the leprosarium at Tala Novaliches, on the fringe of the Sierra Madre. Those who stayed said policemen would have to drag them, or carry them beds and all before they'd move.

Raps Dewey

Health Secretary Antonio Villarama has been making a strenuous effort to segregate lepers, who since the war have mingled rather freely with the public. Health authorities said lepers have driven jeeps, attended movies, and strolled on Manila streets.

Villarama said the escapees would be arrested, the bulletin reported.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

Who Would Be Helped?

Whether a high card by your partner—when you know he could have followed suit with a lower one—asks for a repeat of that suit, or has some other meaning, is not an easy question to answer in all cases. Answering another question may be the key to that one. Who would be helped by your repeat of the suit? If evidence shows it would aid declarer, then surely your partner used the high card for some other purpose, to convey some other message to you.

If you tried to get up a synthetic hand to teach someone his first lesson in the "suit preference" signal, you could hardly have done better than frame up this deal, produced by standard shuffling in a rubber game.

East was a player well versed in many of the game's intricacies, but did not know how good or how bad his new partner was. So, when the heart K was led, he saw at once that he wanted a switch on the next trick to diamonds in preference to the lower-ranking clubs. He consequently played his 10 on the heart lead. West, noting the height of the card, repeated the suit, with the A, and thereby presented South a game, doubled, on a silver platter. South of course ruffed, took out trumps in two rounds and then discarded a losing diamond on the heart Q. So he lost only two diamonds and one heart.

Who would be helped by a second heart lead? If West had asked himself that simple question, he would have realized that the declarer would be aided by it. Therefore East had a different purpose, which could only be that he preferred the higher-ranking diamonds instead of clubs. In such a spot, that would be only the natural meaning of the signal. Obviously a switch to a diamond would have produced three tricks in the suit and beaten the contract.

Miss Ruth Elaine Bitting Becomes Bride In Beautiful Midsummer Church Wedding

Mr. Henry D. Wise Takes Bride in Pretty Church Rites

On Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock before a large number of guests, Miss Ruth Elaine Bitting and Leonard Richard Henricks in St. John's Reformed church. Miss Bitting is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman K. Bitting, 1004 Queen street, while Mr. Henricks is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis C. Hendricks, 1018 Bellevue avenue.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony, which was performed at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, was the Rev. Paul Scheier, pastor.

Decorations in the church included white gladioli as the altar, a basket of mixed flowers and palms with white satin ribbons at the pews.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Myrna Fry presented an organ recital of bridal music with Mrs. Robert Pike the vocalist.

THE BRIDE, who was given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a white gown with tightly fitted bodice featuring an off the shoulder neckline trimmed with imported short eyelash sleeves fastened by tiny ruffles. Ruffles of eyelash formed a bustle effect on the full skirt which ended in a long circular train. Her veil of tulle fell from a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones and she carried an old fashioned bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid.

Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Earl Fritz Jr., who appeared in a gown of chartreuse marquisette fashioned with tightly fitted bodice and off the shoulder neckline. The very full skirt boasted a bustle back. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of white roses.

Mr. W. Mark Henricks, brother of the bridegroom, attended as best man. The ushers were the Messrs. Donald W. Bitting, brother of the bride, and Edward Fritz.

Mrs. Bitting, the mother of the bride, chose a black and white sheer dress with matching accessories, while Mrs. Henricks was attired in a print dress with white accessories. Both wore corsages of gardenias.

After a reception held in the social rooms of the church, the young couple left for a honeymoon in the Poconos with the bride traveling in a luggage print silk dress with matching accessories. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return they will reside in their newly furnished home, 417 West street.

Miss Bitting was graduated from Pottstown High school, class of 1945, and is employed in the office of the Bell Telephone company. Mr. Henricks also was graduated from Pottstown High school and attended Ursinus college. He spent four years with the Army, two years in the South Pacific. He is employed by the Henricks-Pretzel company.

IN A TRADITIONAL gown of white lace and net, the bride was the picture of grace. The fitted bodice was highlighted with the sweetheart neckline and long pointed sleeves, while a deep lace peplum set off the very full skirt of chiffon, which ended in a long court train. Her finger tip veil which was of double tulle of the gown, fell from a head-dress of orange blossoms.

She carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations with orchid center. Her father gave her in marriage.

Her only attendant was Mrs. Kenneth P. Haas, who appeared as matron of honor in an orchid taffeta gown with illusion neckline, fitted bodice and full skirt. With this she wore a matching orchid net head-dress, taffeta mits and carried a shower bouquet of yellow roses and feathered carnations.

A BROTHER OF THE bridegroom, Mr. Russell D. Wise, attended as best man while the ushers were the Messrs. Richard H. Laudenslager, brother of the bride, and Kenneth P. Haas.

Mrs. Laudenslager chose a dress of coral and red shawl and wore a corsage of red roses.

The reception followed at which the couple left for a honeymoon in New York and Atlantic City, the bride leaving in a black sheer dress with matching accessories. Upon their return they will reside at 229 South Reading avenue, Boyertown.

The bride was graduated from Emmaus High school and Kutztown State Teacher's college and is an elementary teacher in the Boyertown schools. Her husband attended Boyertown schools, served in the Navy two and a half years and is employed by Doehner Jarvis corporation.

POP and Democrats See Eye-to-Eye on Foreign Policy Issue

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER (Picture on Page One)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (P)—Both Republican and administration leaders in American foreign policy now believe they have arrived at an understanding for co-operation during the election campaign. The object is to present a solid front to Russia on the Berlin crisis and other current issues.

Both sides strongly hope this will prevent Moscow from embarking on any dangerous adventure under a delusion that there is dissension inside the United States which might confuse this nation's policies at a critical moment and yield the Russians an easy victory.

There has been considerable concern among foreign policy experts in both major parties that the Russians might make such a miscalculation this Summer or Fall, increasing the danger of war.

CREATION OF The solid front has been one of the major objectives of Secretary of State Marshall, for the administration, and John Foster Dulles and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) on behalf of the Republican high command.

Dulles, the foreign affairs adviser of Presidential Candidate Thomas E. Dewey, and Vandenberg, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, have laid out their course with Dewey's counsel and approval. Marshall presumably has acted on authority from President Truman. One result is that neither side thus far has injected foreign affairs as an issue in the bitterly political extra session of Congress.

This does not mean that foreign policy will be debated during the presidential campaigns. In fact, Dewey has announced that he will make several speeches on the subject. Mr. Truman has not disclosed his plans but is expected to discuss it also.

THE DEBATE On both sides, however, according to the best information available here, is due to deal with aspects of foreign policy which would not weaken the government's hand in dealing with Russia.

For instance, it is understood that Dewey may attack the Democratic platform on the ground that it gives the Democrats exclusive credit for creation of the United Nations and ignores the role played by Republican leaders; he may also criticize the Democratic administration's alleged lack of a strong foreign policy at the end of the war and argue that this allowed Russia to gain advantages in Europe which it could not otherwise have won.

Some State department authorities were upset by the calling of the extra session of Congress, even though Mr. Truman limited it to domestic issues as far as he was concerned. They feared it would arouse such bitter political feelings that Republican attacks on the administration's handling of foreign affairs would be inevitable.

From the Republican side comes information that this did in fact present a problem. Some Republican legislators felt the best answer to Mr. Truman's proposals on inflation was the argument that exports under the European recovery program were to blame.

Dewey, it is understood, refused to go along with this answer on the ground that it would weaken western Europe's faith in the stability of the recovery program and undermine American political policies in Europe.

SOME OF DEWEY'S advisers are understood to have told top State department officials they believe military leaders exercise too great an influence on relations with Russia, particularly in the Berlin crisis.

One example cited in support of this view is that the American military command in Germany imposed restrictions on movement of trains from the Soviet zone through the American zone a week ago, at a time when all the emphasis here was on seeking through diplomacy a peaceful solution to the Berlin crisis.

Some administration officials in Washington was notified ahead of time that the restrictions would be imposed as a counter-move to the Soviet restrictions on western travel to Berlin. Others give the impression that the restriction was ordered by General Lucius D. Clay, American military governor in Germany, but they say he had ample authority to act with or without prior State department approval.

The government's general policy of staying in Berlin, resisting Russian blockade pressure and at the same time seeking to negotiate a peaceful solution of the crisis has full Republican support. The evidence is, in fact, that it was worked out by Marshall in co-operation with Dulles and Vandenberg.

Take Off Those Rose-Colored Spectacles

Sometimes it seems as though half the women who write me are unhappy because they aren't married, while the other half are unhappy because they are.

The trouble is, most unmarried women idealize and over-glorify the mere state of matrimony. They imagine that once they have husbands and homes of their own, all problems would automatically solve themselves. The real truth is that problems usually begin when the honeymoon is over.

Sometimes the problems that come up in marriage are just those which inevitably come along in normal human life, and husband and wife meet and solve them together. That is a happy marriage.

Unfortunately, however, in a great many cases the problems that arise come because either husband or wife, and sometimes both, don't care enough to make the marriage a successful one, and then you have a definitely unhappy union.

Sometimes this lack of interest on the part of husband or wife shows itself in flagrant acts. A husband may be unfaithful; he may drink too much; he may gamble away the money that ought to go toward keeping his home, or he may even walk out and desert the wife he has promised to take care of all his life.

Or, on the other hand, a man may be physically faithful, sober and hard-working and yet make his wife completely miserable by his attitude toward her.

This is the sort of thing with which a wife has to contend who writes as follows:

"In one of your columns you spoke of a man who wrote you a letter that said, 'Did you ever have a feeling of being lonely all the time?'"

"Please tell this man that I too have known what loneliness is, and have all my married life. If my husband gets his way in everything, he is very nice and pleasant, though never affectionate. If he doesn't get his own way, he is moody, cross and sometimes downright nasty."

"It is a terrible feeling to be lonely and not wanted, and only those who have had to experience it know what it is really like. Sometimes I have been so lonely and so desperate and hungry for affection that I felt like running away. But then I thought of my marriage vows—for better or worse, for richer or poorer, till death do us part—and so I have stuck. But oh, what a battle, a battle I couldn't stand to go through another time!"

Now here is a woman who undoubtedly would have been far happier had she never married this man. For her, as for so many others like her, marriage has proved to be not the glamorous dream so many unmarried women believe it to be, but a dreary round through which she

Woman Regains Ring Lost 51 Years Ago

CARDIFF, N. Y., Aug. 1 (P)—Mrs. Joshua Wilber again is wearing her wedding ring, lost 51 years ago and recently found embedded in the roots of a tree.

Mrs. Wilber said today that she lost the ring in 1897 while planting a flower bed in front of her home near Otisco in central New York. She never found it, although she searched diligently, she said.

"Don't fret," her husband told her. "I'll buy you another," but she never wanted another, she added.

When the couple, now in their 80's, sold their farm to William Kamm, she asked Kamm to return the ring if he ever found it.

Several days ago Kamm's son, Roy, was transplanting a tree and found the ring imbedded in the roots. It bore the date 1888 and the inscription: "Josh and Letty."

The younger Kamm recalled his father's telling him about the ring, and returned it to Mrs. Wilber.

"The ring looks as good as the day of the wedding," Mrs. Wilber said. "It must be of very good gold."

BUSINESS and INDUSTRY

Quality of Stock, Feeds Important in Poultry Production

Poultry profits depend on three major factors. Quality of birds is one. Quality of feeds is another. Able management is the third.

The baby chicks you buy should come from a flock with a definite and known record for high vitality and high production. In order to produce a large supply of eggs of high quality on a big production basis—to enjoy high vitality and livability, feather rapidly and obtain maximum sustenance from feeds—these abilities first must be inherited by the chicks you buy.

The finest feeds and the most capable management cannot overcome the handicap of inferior chicks.

Assuming that your stock is of the best and that you are an efficient manager, the importance of the quality of feed that you use can hardly be stressed enough.

You secure two important benefits when you use B-B feeds. You get all the benefits of scientifically balanced rations which the science of nutrition has discovered to date about poultry. You get the benefits of Maritime Research Farm's own experience in raising poultry. This farm was established to check, study and improve the nutritional efficiency of B-B feeds.

These feeds, as well as Larro and Red Comb poultry feeds, are sold by the Pottstown Roller Mills, South and Hanover streets.

You can't do better than buy B-B feeds from this old established firm.

Waiting Trial in Triple Murder

Waiting trial in a triple murder, Robert M. Daniels stands in his cell at Mansfield, O., locked in by Richland County Sheriff Frank E. Robinson, who with Van Wert County Sheriff Roy Shaffer—who caught Daniels—brought him there from Van Wert. Daniels admits killing John Niebel, Ohio Reformatory superintendent, and his wife and daughter, plus three other murders in a bloody 13-day foray with John West, slain in a roadblock capture.

Stowe Quoit Club Draws Over 250; Games Are Features

Games for adults and youngsters featured the annual picnic of the Stowe Quoit club yesterday in Hartenstein's grove.

A gathering of about 250 persons, composed of members, families, and friends, were present for an afternoon and evening of activities which included a money scramble in sawdust for children, balloon blowing contest for women and a peanut scramble.

In one unique form of competition for men, the bowl of a corned pipe, the stem, and a small bag of tobacco were hidden separately in a sawdust patch. The first contestant to find all three, assemble them, and light up a pipe, won cigars and cigarettes.

Several quoit games were played while Harvey Keim, a club member, played recordings throughout the affair over his amplifying system.

The picnic committee in charge of arrangements was composed of Arthur Dietrich, Raymond Boyer, Stephen Seifinger, Adolf O'Bara, Donald Rhoads, Warren Bechtel and Willard Summers.

TWO STABBINGS — sault and threats of bodily harm, leveled against Joseph Collins, 27, Apartment 34, Road A, Hilldale, were withdrawn by a Philadelphia girl yesterday.

Collins was accused by a 15-year-old Philadelphia girl, who was visiting her aunt in Hilldale.

After the alleged assault and threat, the girl called another in Philadelphia. When the woman arrived, she had a warrant served by Stowe Justice of the Peace Anthony J. Candelieri.

Last night, however, the woman returned to Philadelphia. She informed Kelley, before whom a hearing had been scheduled, that she wished to withdraw the charges, and Collins was released from a borough hall cell at 6:35 p. m.

PAROLEE HELD —

Montgomery counties. He was put on probation in Berks county without serving time.

All told, the youth faces the possible completion of an 18-month sentence in Philadelphia and 20 months in this county, as well as the 23 in Berks county, since he was paroled on good behavior.

IN A WARRANT SWORN out Saturday by his brother, Joseph R. Kovatto, of Pottstown, RD. 3, the youth was charged with breaking windows in his brother's new automobile.

When Motor Patrolman Robert Huser, Patrolman Harry G. Chrusch and Special Officer Andrew Kovach arrived at the Kovatto's Mill-Park home, John was found washing his hands at a pump.

He ran through the house and hid in nearby fields when he saw the police approaching.

Yesterday morning he was picked up in a house on Beech street, near York street, where he was visiting a friend.

Kovatto was held without bail for a hearing at 7 o'clock tonight before Justice of the Peace Richard H. Cadmus, of the Seventh ward.

Parole Officers Russell L. Richards, of Montgomery county, and P. W. Tibbitts, of Berks county, are expected to be present at the hearing.

THE TWO BURGLARIES

committed by Kovatto and Starratt the past Nov. 21, were at the Raymond N. Quigley Jr. service station, High street and Highland road, and at the bowling alleys of the Boyertown American Legion home.

They stole $28 from the service station and rifled $43 from amusement devices at the bowling alleys.

The men stole a coupe in Philadelphia, committed both burglaries during the early morning hours of Nov. 21 and drove back to Philadelphia, where they were arrested by Fairmount park guards.

MISSING PLANE —

it was still without news of the plane.

An official said the company received a report purporting to come from the American embassy saying a U. S. radio station in the Azores had picked up an SOS from a plane.

The official said the company called the embassy back and found no confirmation of the report. The company then made contact with the Azores and found no knowledge of an SOS.

(The Coast Guard said in New York that Coast Guard and U. S. Air Force craft are standing by to assist in the search from the African coast or the Cape Verde Islands if the French request it. Its last known position is out of reach of planes.)

A search for an effective search from Bermuda, San Juan, Puerto Rico, or the Azores, the Coast Guard added.)

asked to confirm whether an approach had been made to Stalin.

His manner and tone contrasted sharply with that of officials here two days ago when diplomats were being told Molotov was "not in Moscow."

The fact that Molotov returned yesterday and arranged promptly to receive the western representatives was taken here as a sign the Russians were ready to talk. This belief strengthened here tonight, although there was no indication that the west had ceased to move warily step by step in the troubled situation.

SPAATZ HONORED —

turn to the old scenes," the general said. "It is a good thing to look upon the faces of so many stubborn Pennsylvania Dutchmen. These are the faces of men and women who won't be intimidated by anything or anybody in the world."

Squadrons of "Shooting Stars," the U. S. Army Air Force's newest jet fighters, swarmed in from the northeast, dipped over the field in salute, and in a minute had disappeared into the bright blue yonder, heading toward their home base at Selfridge field, Mich.

The gratitude of the people of Berks county for the contribution of their native son to the winning of World War II, was expressed by Frederick A. Muhlenberg, Berks county's representative of the Reading-Berks Bicentennial committee which entertained Spaatz at a luncheon at the Abraham Lincoln hotel before the air show, reviewed the service of other Berks generals and referred especially to Gen. Hunter Liggett of Berks, a World War I commander, and now General Spaatz.

AS PART OF THE BRIEF ceremony held on a speakers' platform of the Air Force operations base, General Spaatz pinned a flying cross on Sgt. James Weick, Paulsboro, N. J., and a bronze star on Tech Sgt. Harry E. Diem, Coatesville. He gave a citation to Col. George Logan, Philadelphia, and pinned a commendation ribbon on his blouse.

All three men were cited for extraordinary service in various theaters of operations.

The ceremony was opened by Mayor John F. Davis, who welcomed the general to Reading, expressed the city's appreciation of his services and reviewed the highlights of General Spaatz's record in World War II.

DOG SHOW —

ago when A. Eugene Smith, vice-president of the Memorial park association and a dog fancier himself, approached Kilburn on the subject.

He offered the park for the show as a fund-raising publicity move.

The two then put the matter to the Valley Forge Kennel club, the only AKC-approved group in the immediate area.

Three weeks ago Thomas Baldwin, president of the Norristown club, inspected the site of the show and forwarded his recommendation to AKC.

The sole remaining item to be okayed by the parent organization now is the list of premiums, or prizes.

Kilburn said many local enterprises and individuals have subscribed trophies, cash, plaques or cash in prizes and that the deadline for such offers is Aug. 12.

After submission to the AKC, the list will be sent out to 8000 dog show frequenters as enticement to enter their animals.

THE PET SHOP owner explained that the Valley Forge Kennel club is taking a share of the proceeds because of entrance fees and advertising fees from the booklet which will be sold at the show.

In addition to the "bench show" where dogs are simply exhibited, there will be an obedience exhibition and the manager hopes for a field trial exhibition for hunting dogs.

There will be special classes and prizes for local dogs, Kilburn stressed.

Applications for entries, prize donations and booklets may be made to Kilburn's shop at Chestnut and York streets.

Three Sportsmen Killed As Plane Hits Hill

SEARCHMONT, Ont., Aug. 1 (P) —Three sportsmen were killed today when their amphibian plane crashed on the fog-shrouded summit of a 1000-foot hill.

The victims were Donald H. Werner, 28, Akron, Ohio, identified as a U. S. vice consul to Greenland; Henry G. Thibault, 40, Cedarville, Mich.; and John Litzan, 40, Cedarville, Mich.

The men were flying back to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., a 20 miles south of here, from a fishing trip in the Ontario backwoods.

Construction workers repairing a nearby bridge said they heard the crash and an explosion. The bodies were recovered from the wreckage and sent to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Obituaries

Funeral services for IDA S. (ZIEGENFUS) SELL, wife of Charles W. Sell, 604 1/2 BEECH STREET, will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from a funeral home at 112 North Washington street.

The Rev. Theodore L. Fischer, pastor of Transfiguration Lutheran church, will officiate. Interment will be in Mt. Zion cemetery.

Premature Twins Die in Hospital

Joseph and Susan Ondik, prematurely-born twins of Mr. and Mrs. George Ondik, 356 Cherry street, died late yesterday afternoon in the Memorial hospital.

They were born Saturday morning.

The babies also are survived by two brothers, George Jr. and Thomas A., their maternal grandmother, Mrs. Anna Ragnone, 507 West Vine street, Stowe, and their paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Ondik, 356 Cherry street.

BERLIN BLOCKADE —

collapsed. None of the crew was injured.

The memorial service, arranged by the Women's Union of western Berlin, honored Americans who died in two crashes of supply planes, one near Wiesbaden July 8, and the other in Berlin a week ago.

Simultaneously, the assemblage paid tribute to the German victims of the past week's explosion at the I.G. Farben chemical plant at Ludwigshafen.

IN THE AUDIENCE were Mrs. Louise Schroeder, Socialist mayor of Berlin, and Mrs. Lucius D. Clay, wife of the U. S. military governor. One of the chief speakers was Mrs. Annedore Leber, red-haired Socialist member of the city assembly. She said:

"This airlift which roars above us day and night is positive proof that the world recognizes there is enough worth in the German people to give them positive support in resisting subjugation under a new dictatorship. Thanks to all who help us in this fight. We bow before these dead, who are symbols of international understanding."

The official Soviet newspaper, Tagesschau Rundschau, sought to belittle the air supply. It demanded that the city government bow to Russian demands that Berlin be economically incorporated in the surrounding Soviet zone and that only Russian sponsored currency be considered legal here.

"The hardships of yesterday are surpassed today," the Russian organ said. "It can't go on this way. In a few weeks the cold weather will set in."

SPY HEARINGS —

code, arrangements for parachuting agents into the Balkans and for secret negotiations with Balkan nations.

And some of that information, she said, came from people such as Lauchlin Currie, at the time an administrative assistant to President Roosevelt, and Harry Dexter White, former assistant secretary of the treasury.

Currie and White, and some others named by Miss Bentley, promptly came through with denials of Communist connections or knowledge of Miss Bentley's operations.

BUT THAT didn't completely satisfy the House committee on un-American activities.

Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) said all the people Miss Bentley mentioned will be subpoenaed and quizzed in public hearings. And at the first possible moment, he told a reporter, "this committee will file a formal, written request for the convening of a special grand jury in Washington, looking to prompt prosecution of espionage charges in all cases in which this is warranted."

Such a request would go to U. S. Attorney Morris Fay. Committee members indicated they might send it along after a closed-door session tomorrow afternoon at which they planned to discuss when more hearings will be held, and the order in which witnesses will be called.

Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.), a member of the committee, has suggested that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover be asked to testify and provide any facts he has that might back up Miss Bentley.

A SENATE investigating subcommittee headed by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) plans to toss more questions tomorrow at William W. Remington, 30, a Commerce department official accused by Miss Bentley of being a Communist and supplying her with secret information while he was with the War Production board.

Remington had a turn on the witness stand yesterday. He denies that he ever was a Red or ever passed along confidential information to Miss Bentley.

Now under indefinite suspension, Remington has been drawing $3975 a year as head of a committee which passes on exports to Russia and other countries.

Remington admitted knowing Miss Bentley but said he thought she was a newspaper reporter. And he testified that while the FBI was investigating his relations with her, he held a White House job with President Truman's council of economic advisers, and handled top secret data.

He was offered and turned down a job with the even more secret Atomic Energy commission.

Reading Man Dies After Collapsing of Heart Attack in Park

A Reading vacuum cleaner salesman died of a heart attack in Manatwamy park shortly before noon Saturday.

He was Daniel M. Youse, 46, who was visiting the park with his wife, Herma, while they were on a business trip here.

Mrs. Youse told Patrolman Paul Galloway that she had gone for baking soda and water when her husband suffered an attack of indigestion, at 10:45 a. m.

When he collapsed, an ambulance of the Good Will Fire company was called. Robert Roth and Leslie Rhoads applied a resuscitator to the stricken man for 40 minutes, but he did not regain consciousness.

Youse was pronounced dead by Dr. Hayden O. Evans, 637 High street, who was summoned by police.

His body was taken to a funeral home at 112 North Washington street, and later released to a Reading funeral home.

The Reading man had no survivors in this area.

Special Pupils Fares Here Cited in Philadelphia Case

The Pottstown Rapid Transit company and the Pottstown-Royersford Bus company were cited Saturday by the State Public Utility Commission for maintaining special school fares for children.

Mention of the two concerns was made along with several other transportation companies in the Philadelphia metropolitan area in the commission's effort to justify proposed reductions of bus rates for school children in Philadelphia proper.

BICYCLE COURT —

living or dead person merely is coincidental.

There was no answer.

"Where are the others" nervously asked Laughhead from his dais in borough hall chamber.

"Did you tell Herman (the desk sergeant on duty at the time) to send them up?"

He directed the question to Earl L. Strange, the "educational director" of the bicycle court.

"Yup!" answered Strange. But the returned Pottstown school teacher dashed downstairs to look, anyway.

But none was there.

Laughhead didn't seem to trust Strange.

He hopped off the platform, also went downstairs.

He, too, soon returned empty-handed.

"What shall we do?" he pleaded to Strange from the back of the "courtroom," about the four youngsters who scoffed at the law.

"Shall we send 'em notices and tell them to appear next Saturday?" he continued anxiously.

"Yes, let's do that," answered Strange. "Can we impound their bikes in the meantime?"

"No, we gotta give 'em a hearing," answered Laughhead.

So that ended the "big" day.

Judge Ellis intoned "court's adjourned."

There was no more joy in police headquarters.

tributing to human misery by keeping the refugees on Cyprus.

The British spokesman said Britain has not permitted men of military age to leave Cyprus because the true resolution of May 29 prohibited their departure. He said Jews not of military age are leaving Cyprus for Palestine regularly.

COUNCIL DELEGATES had not expected to meet until Wednesday morning, when the Trieste situation will come up. But the British requested the meeting tomorrow to take up what they considered pressing problems. They are concerned over the fate of the five men held in Tel Aviv.

The British say the five were seized July 6 by Irgun Zvai Leumi at a power station flying the flag of the security council's truce commission. They charged that the Jews showed disrespect for the U. N.

Israel answered that the men were arrested in their homes and that orderly processes of justice will be observed.

ing on home, Reichard said. He was taken there by a resident near the accident scene.

Since the accident occurred just southeast of the Montgomery-Berks county line, Collegeville State troopers investigated. They were Pts. Albert C. Kweder and Edward G. Bonk.

BARRY ROWE, 8, of 129 Beech street, was severely cut and bruised early last night when he fell from his bicycle as it hurtled out of control down a hill.

Treated at Pottstown hospital at 8 o'clock for contusions and brush burns of the face, arms, chest and knees, the youth told hospital attendants he could not remember where he fell.

With him at the time was an older lad, also on a bicycle, who refused to give his name to hospital authorities. Barry explained that he was returning home by a "short-cut" at the insistence of his older companion.

He was going down the hill, he said, when the cycle went out of control and threw him.

Summoned to the scene, his stepfather, Gerald Stahl, of the same address, took him to the hospital.

They said a suspect, whom they did not identify, had confessed the slaying. He told them contributions by individuals were as little as $5 each.

They were not clear on why the victim had acquired so many ill-wishers.

Police Alarm Gels Action—and Fast!

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1 (AP)—A voice cut in as Philadelphia's Police radio Dispatcher Joseph Moroni broadcast a general alarm today for a stolen tow truck.

"We got it," interrupted Patrolman Harris Schoenagh.

"Got what?" asked Maroni.

"The tow truck," Schoenagh replied.

"Fast work," Maroni said. "Less than 60 seconds by the clock."

Only five minutes earlier Frederick Sacks told police the truck, parked in front of his home, had been stolen.

Maroni started relaying the message—"to all cars."

Schoenagh, listening to the report, saw the truck moving down a West Philadelphia street. He flagged the vehicle to a stop.

The driver? It turned out to be Sacks' brother, Edward. He had borrowed the truck.

Commented Maroni: "It was a false alarm but it got action."

Wherever you go, they're talking DYNAFLOW

FROM Atlantic to Pacific, it's simply terrific.

Not in a generation—maybe not in two—has any single improvement in automobiles caused the talk or met the instant approval that has greeted this new drive.

You see the reason in your first five minutes behind a Dynaflo® wheel.

You sense that this is not merely an improvement on old ways, but a whole new system of transferring power from your engine to the rear wheels.

For the first time, oil does everything—replaces the friction clutch, eliminates the usual forward gears, even actuates the mechanism by which you change from Driving range to emergency Low and Reverse.

You feel the result in new smoothness that's like riding a mighty tide of flowing oil.

You move from standstill to road speed in one smooth unbroken sweep of power, quick and effortless in getaway and instantly responsive at speed.

You stop by pressing the foot-brake—go again by feeding gas. Once you've set the selector lever, you need not touch it again in normal driving until you're ready to park or back up.

Outside engineers look at Dynaflo and say, "Now you've got something!"

You'll say so, too—once you handle a Buick ROADMASTER with this new driving magic.

Try it, first chance you get—and we think you'll want to see your Buick dealer at once to get an order in—with or without a car to trade.

*Dynaflo Drive is available at extra cost on Buick Roadmaster models only.
